Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. In addition, the lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function. We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Moreover, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. Specifically, a recently amended NEO agreement provides for an excise tax gross-up provision. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Voter Rationale: A vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Cash severance is double trigger and reasonably based, with no excise tax gross-ups. However, certain recent decisions by the compensation committee have increased the potential merger-related compensation to NEOs. While equity awards were previously expected to be pro-rated, they will now be converted to time-vesting awards at their full value, including recent grants made in 2022. Further, the committee approved sizable cash retention awards to NEOs which approximate 75 percent of their cash severance value. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. 2	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time

Voter Rationale: We are concerned over the introduction of a 5-year additional LTI plan valued at grant at approximately USD 45 million, bearing the risk of excessive pay outcomes. Additionally, we have concerns with regard to the process followed to implement the plan, not demonstrating good governance. While former FCA CEO Mike Manley decided to step down, the remuneration report does not provide adequate disclosure on his termination package, while Current CEO Tavares received a EUR 1.7 million cash retention bonus related to the merger. We have ongoing concerns regarding the design of the LTI plan (i.e. partially not subject to performance and TSR measure allows for vesting for below median performance).

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. Also, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. 1.2	Elect Director Jeffrey P. Draime	Mgmt	For	Withhold

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, former employees or company founders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees. Directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

1.1	Elect Director Oscar M. Bean	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, incentive plan features that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Also, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

2	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Furthermore, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Further, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance. Additionally, companies should consider introducing deferral element and clawback provisions to the short- and long-term incentive schemes in line with market best practice. Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the bylaws and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.
1.2	Elect Director Robert M. Tichio	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the bylaws and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors who represent major shareholders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key committees as their interests may not be well aligned with the wider group of shareholders.. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. In addition, directors are expected to hold only a small number of directorships and ensure they have sufficient time and energy to discharge their role properly, particularly during unexpected company situations requiring substantial amounts of time. Moreover, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.
3	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Moreover, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval.

2	Ratify Ernst & Young LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

4	Amend Proxy Access Right	SH	Against	For
Voter Rationale: Shareholders should have the right to reasonable access to the proxy, including the nomination of directors to the board. Such a practice encourages greater accountability of directors to the shareholders whose interests they represent. 4	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. The plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job.

3	Approve Directors' Remuneration Report	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Specifically, a vote AGAINST this proposal is warranted. Two NEOs would be eligible for full cash severance if they resigned without a "good reason" within a certain period following the merger closing (i.e. problematic modified-single-trigger severance). In addition, two NEOs would be eligible for excise tax gross-ups, and the unvested equity for all NEOs will automatically accelerate upon the merger.

Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company completed a merger transaction in November 2021 and therefore the long-term alignment and analysis of CEO pay and company performance cannot be completed at this time. However, some significant problematic pay practices have been identified, including the excessive share-based awards granted to the CEO and internal pay disparity. The magnitude of those grants to the CEO raises significant concerns, especially since there are no performance-based vesting conditions attached to the grants other than achieving a certain share price. In addition, the company granted the CEO a $5 million "going public" bonus. Upon completion of the transaction, the CEO received a total compensation of over $64 million.

Voter Rationale: The lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function. We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The STI and LTI cash payouts were determined similarly using subjective metrics, with the LTI cash plan utilizing an annual measurement period, resulting in above-target payouts. In addition, the executive chairman's total compensation was considerably higher than total CEO pay.

In addition, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. ---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. 5	Approve Additional Special Dividend of JPY 29	SH	Against	For
Voter Rationale: A vote FOR this shareholder proposal is recommended because: - Management's counter-arguments do not constitute a compelling reason to oppose the additional dividend proposal by a shareholder calling on the bank to pay out an additional JPY 29 per share, resulting in a payout ratio of 57.9 percent, which still appears reasonable.

2	Approve Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
---	----------------------------	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Also, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

4	Ratify PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
---	---	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

The Kraft Heinz Company

Proposal Number	Proposal Text	Proponent	Mgmt Rec	Vote Instruction

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, companies should establish and disclose a policy on hedging of company stock by executives. Hedging activity by executives should be prohibited as it potentially severs management alignment with shareholder interest.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Furthermore, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Lastly, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: The corporate governance committee has permitted a poison pill. The best defense against a take-over is strong management and a successful strategy. Where poison pills are adopted, they should be approved by shareholders prior to deployment, include independent oversight, and last for a limited time. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board has failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Additionally, the company's governing documents prohibit shareholders' ability to amend the bylaws. Moreover, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company did not include a say-on-pay proposal on ballot this year given its adoption of a triennial say-on-pay frequency. Continued lack of disclosure on compensation paid by the external manager to the company's executives may result in further adverse recommendations going forward. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, this plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, incentive plans that allow for loans to exercise options are inconsistent with good practice and should be eliminated. Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Likewise, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Finally, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Voter Rationale: Executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The company provides the same annual incentive opportunity to both the Executive Chairman and CEO, which is expressed as a percentage of adjusted EBITDA and is uncapped. Such an incentive structure can lead to outsized payouts and is especially concerning given that it is provided to two individuals. Moreover, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the company's governing documents do not permit shareholders to amend the bylaw. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Moreover, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Also, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. In addition, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

	Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Also, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. In addition, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. Moreover, former employees or company founders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

	Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Also, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.
3	Ratify KPMG LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
	Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

-----	--------------------------------------	------	-----	----------

Voter Rationale: For controlled companies, the board should include at least 33% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. Furthermore, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. Annual and long-term incentives continue to rely primarily on board discretion when determining final payouts and are not tied to meaningful, pre-set performance targets.

Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our expectation is that there be at least one female director on the board for a company of this size. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board and the pop-up supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. In addition, changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board's failure to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the problematic capital structure, the "pop-up" supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Also, executive pay is not in line with company performance. The compensation committee should do more to respond to best practices in pay that help establish compensation packages that reward strong performance and build shareholder value over time. The STI and LTI programs use identical metrics, targets and performance periods, which results in duplicative pay opportunities and limits the long-term nature of the pay program.

3	Adopt a Policy on Board Diversity	SH	Against	For

Voter Rationale: The company's board policy does not specifically call for women or minorities to be included among potential candidates. This is of heightened concern given that the composition of the board, which has only one woman, is an outlier among its industry peers.

In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. In 2016, the bylaws were unilaterally amended by the board to impose restrictions on precatory shareholder proposals that far exceed existing SEC rules. Specifically, the bylaws prohibit shareholders from amending the bylaws and include provisions that erect hurdles beyond those of the SEC's Rule 14a-8 that make it more difficult for a shareholder to include any precatory proposals on the proxy ballot. This action has not been submitted to a shareholder vote and the proxy statement provides no commentary or evidence of shareholder engagement on the matter. Also, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Also, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Moreover, the board should act with accountability to the investors it represents and take action where a substantial proportion have expressed concerns over compensation practices in previous years. Furthermore, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.
1.5	Elect Director Udi Toledano	Mgmt	For	Withhold
Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The nomination committee should be majority independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Furthermore, this director is not sufficiently independent to serve as the independent lead director.
2	Advisory Vote to Ratify Named Executive Officers' Compensation	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. In addition, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders
3	Amend Omnibus Stock Plan	Mgmt	For	Against
Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. In addition, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time.

Voter Rationale: Incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. In addition, variable remuneration and equity incentives should not be granted to non-executive directors as this may compromise their independence and ability to hold management accountable. Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, executives from acquired companies are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees and should be considered affiliated directors. 5	Amend Senior Executive Compensation Clawback Policy	SH	Against	For
Voter Rationale: Substantial restatements should trigger a reassessment and reclamation of performance-based compensation where this has been calculated on inaccurate figures. Also, the board should have the ability to "claw back" from executives that benefited from improper accounting, even if they were not directly responsible due to fraudulent activity or willful misconduct. The board should introduce options to recoup following major regulatory and other significant failings by senior management.
6	Submit Severance Agreement (Change-in-Control) to Shareholder Vote	SH	Against	For
Voter Rationale: Companies should request approval of compensation policies covering severance packages and signing bonuses from shareholders. The prospect of separating the voting rights of a merger or acquisition from the compensation packages associate with it is welcome.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, the remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. Also, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. Furthermore, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Voter Rationale: Executive officers are expected to hold no more than one external directorships to ensure they have sufficient time and energy to discharge their roles properly, particularly during unexpected company situations requiring substantial amounts of time.

2	Ratify Deloitte & Touche LLP as Auditors	Mgmt	For	Against
---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The company has engaged the same audit firm for more than 20 years. There is value for investors in gaining new perspectives on finances and controls. Companies that have had the same auditor for a long period of time should consider a plan or tender process for bringing in a new auditing firm, ideally every 10 years.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, incentive awards to executives should include robust performance targets that reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time defined as at least three years.

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the classified board and the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: A larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. In addition, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Moreover, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. Furthermore, the lack of a robust anti-pledging policy is concerning and raises questions about audit committee effectiveness in carrying out its risk oversight function. We encourage the committee to adopt a policy ideally prohibiting or severely restricting the pledging of company shares by executives. Also, we expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our minimum expectation is that female directors comprise at least 25% of board members for a company of this size, with an aspiration to achieve 30% in the future. Lastly, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Voter Rationale: Overall, we have concerns that the quantitative pay-for-performance misalignment is not mitigated. There remains significant committee discretion and a concurrent lack of disclosure on total incentive assessment. We would like to see enhanced transparency on quantified pre-set target or maximum goals and per-metric weightings. Additionally, the response to shareholders regarding performance-linked equity is not robust enough as the company integrated less-than-rigorous metrics that merely target and pay out for median performance. Also, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs.

5	Adopt Management Pay Clawback Authorization Policy	SH	Against	Abstain

The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Moreover, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, we will still oppose this nominee because former employees or company founders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. For widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity. In addition, boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Also, directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

Voter Rationale: Boards where more than a third of directors have served for more than 12 years lack balance. The nominating committee should take action to ensure an appropriately fresh board and reduce the proportion of long standing directors to reduce the risk of entrenchment. Given that there has been meaningful board refreshment during the year under review, support is warranted at this time and the matter will be kept under review. However, we are still opposing this nominee because for widely held companies, the board should include at least 50% independent non-executive directors to ensure appropriate balance of independence and objectivity.

Voter Rationale: The corporate governance committee has permitted a poison pill. The best defense against a take-over is strong management and a successful strategy. Where poison pills are adopted, they should be approved by shareholders prior to deployment, include independent oversight, and last for a limited time. We have concerns regarding the adoption of a short-term poison pill with a relatively low 10 percent trigger and for not providing sufficient disclosure regarding the future of the pill, which is set to expire just four days after this annual meeting.

Voter Rationale: The plan's structure and pay-for-performance results are not sufficiently strong. Good practices include: well disclosed and stretching performance targets; performance triggers for equity awards; using different metrics for the short and long-term plans; measuring company outcomes against its appropriate peer group; and setting awards so that executives are not rewarded for below-average performance. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. In addition, a larger percentage of the equity awards should be tied to performance conditions. At least 50% is a minimum good practice. Moreover, significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors Furthermore, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time Additionally, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Lastly, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders

1.1	Elect Director William E. Aliski	Mgmt	For	Withhold

Voter Rationale: Changes in company bylaws or articles of incorporation should not erode shareholders' rights and should be subject to shareholder approval. Specifically, the board failed to remove, or subject to a sunset requirement, the supermajority vote requirement to enact certain changes to the governing documents and the classified board, each of which adversely impacts shareholder rights. In addition, directors are elected in classes rather than annually, but shareholders should have the opportunity to communicate with directors regularly on their performance. The board should take immediate steps to declassify itself, thereby enhancing accountability.

Voter Rationale: We expect companies to have policies in place to increase racial and gender diversity on the board. Our expectation is that there be at least one female director on the board for a company of this size.

1.3	Elect Director W. Thorpe McKenzie	Mgmt	For	Withhold
-----	-----------------------------------	------	-----	----------

Voter Rationale: Directors with long board tenures should not serve on committees that require absolute independence. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: Significant salary increases should be linked to material changes in the business or in the role and responsibilities of executive directors. In addition, incentive awards to executives should be clearly disclosed and include robust and stretching performance targets to reward strong performance and drive shareholder value over a sufficiently long period of time. Moreover, all exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. Also, the company should put clawback provisions in place to enable it to re-coup funds should it identify any facts of manipulation of reported indicators or other bad faith actions which were detrimental to the long-term interests of its shareholders.

Voter Rationale: The remuneration committee should not allow vesting of incentive awards for below median performance as this is considered to be rewarding under performance of peers. In addition, severance payments should not exceed two times annual pay. Larger severance packages should be subject to a separate shareholder approval. Moreover, on early termination, all share-based awards should be time pro-rated and tested for performance, including in the event of a change of control. Voter Rationale: This plan could lead to excessive dilution. Furthermore, the plan improperly allows for accelerated vesting for an overly broad range of corporate restructuring scenarios and such provisions fail to reward performance. Rather, equity should be rolled forward into any successor company, or vest in a time-apportioned fashion only to the extent that performance conditions are met or if an executive loses his job. Voter Rationale: While we note the positive changes made to the company's executive compensation program following shareholder engagement and the low say on pay vote at the last AGM, we remain concerned around the lack of commitment regarding the payment of one-off grants. All exceptional awards should be clearly linked to performance and demonstrate shareholder value creation in addition to and above that expected of directors as a normal part of their jobs. These and other approaches will ensure that the compensation committee designs compensation packages that build shareholder value over time. The compensation committee should be independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness. 1.4	Elect Director George C. Moore	Mgmt	For	Withhold

Voter Rationale: Former employees or company founders are not sufficiently independent to serve on key board committees. The audit committee should be fully independent and this director's membership could hamper the committee's impartiality and effectiveness.

---	--	------	-----	---------

Voter Rationale: We have concerns regarding the board's use of discretion to increase the annual incentive payout for the CEO above their maximum payout cap and the discretion used to accelerate performance shares in connection with the spin-off and merger transaction despite the transaction not constituting a change in control under the company's compensation plans.
